

Raccoons climb down from their tree dens at night to search for food in the wetland.

