"Make no little plans. They have no magic to stir men's blood and probably themselves will not be realized. Make big plans; aim high in hope and work, remembering that a noble, logical diagram once recorded will never die, but long after we are gone will be a living thing, asserting itself with ever-growing insistency."

STINCHCOMB WILL RIDE.

Purchase of an Automobile for the Park Engineer is Approved.

Park Engineer Stinchcomb is to have an automobile. He was promised a machine about a year ago.

Since then two or three attempts to authorize the purchase of a machine have failed, but two weeks ago the council passed another ordinance. Yesterday the service board approved the purchase. This gives the park department its second machine.

BY V. B. GRAY,
 Red and Gun Editor.

One day last spring two men sat in the office of former County Engineer W. A. Stinchcomb in the new court house and discussed the feasibility of a series of bird and game sanctuaries that would border Cleveland on the east, south and west.

They dreamed of a long series of woodlands and rivuleted dells where songs of birds would fill the air; where bright hued pheasants would stalk beneath wide branched trees; where rabbits would contentedly munch their leaf and tender root; where coveys of brown quails would wander whistling their "bob white," and where all wild animals and birds would feel safe and "at home."

And now the dream of these two, Mr. Stinchcomb and myself, has come true, in part at least, with the prospect that it wholly will be realized within a year or so.
